

NATURAL SEASONAL ALLERGY SUPPORT

Allerplex® supports the body's ability to handle seasonal, environmental and dietary challenges

- Contains a combination of ingredients, including food sources of Vitamins A and C, that supports the body's natural immune system function
- Supports healthy liver, lung and respiratory function, and helps the body naturally manage mucus movement

Antronex® supports the liver and the body's natural detoxification processes

- Supports the liver in efficiently filtering blood to eliminate histamine from the body (acts as an anti-histamine)
- Used in allergy and food sensitivity conditions

Cal-Amo® helps the effectiveness of natural and over-the-counter anti-histamines

- Contains compounds that are useful in supporting proper acid/alkaline balance
- Supports a normal cellular pH in the body and healthy respiratory function

Drenamin® helps the body's response to environmental stresses and supports the immune system

- Supports healthy adrenal gland function, which in turn helps manage healthy blood sugar levels and energy production
- Helpful when dealing with fatigue and a high stress lifestyle

AllergCo assists in maintaining healthy breathing passages and works as a natural anti-histamine

- Supports a normal immune system response
- Encourages the body to respond normally to occasional seasonal stresses